LEVER LAT PULLDOWN

(Part 903)

- Adjustable, fully upholstered knee roller pad.
- Horizontal and neutral grip positions.
- Steel stack shrouds.
- Aviation-grade cabling.

DESCRIPTION

The pin select Lever Lat Pulldown is a straightforward piece of equipment for a straightforward exercise. It allows you to strengthen and tone your back, but offers more controlled movements than cable machines.

The Lever Lat Pulldown focuses on the specific pulldown motion and nothing else. The frame is fully welded, so there's no flex during the workout and less maintenance overall. The pulldown lever has two-position grip handles to allow for a more varied range of motion and better targeting muscles.

The weight stack is protected by a steel shroud and is easily accessible from the workout area, which makes for quick adjustments between sets. The adjustable seat and fully upholstered knee pads keep you comfortable, so there's no distraction while pulling reps.

WEIGHT STACK INFO

The Lever Lat Pulldown comes with a 200-pound weight stack with plates in 10-pound increments. A 250-pound weight stack (also with 10-pound plates) upgrade is also available.
